ERASTUS JOHNSON INSTANTLY KILLED

HIS SON, ELBERT, PROBABLY FATALLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Automobile Was Sideswiped By Another Machine on Grove City Pike—Formerly Lived at Five Points and Served as Justice of the Peace of Monroe Township.

Erastus Johnson, of Columbus, formerly of Monroe township, this county was instantly killed Saturday night and his son, Elbert Johnson, aged 37, also of Columbus, is in Grant hospital suffering injuries he sustained when the automobile in which they were riding overturned in Grove City pike after colliding with another automobile, whose driver's name was not obtained.

A week ago, the elder Mr. Johnson went to Monroe township to visit the family of Mrs. Elta Hatfield. His son motored to Five Points Saturday to bring his father home.

As they neared Briggsdale, another car shot out of a sidewalk in front of them. The rear end of this machine sideswiped the front of Mr. Johnson's car, causing it to overturn. The driver of the other car halted, but in the excitement which followed the tragedy his name was not obtained.

Mr. Johnson was dead when taken from the wreckage of the automobile, and his son was unconscious. An ambulance of the Shaw Davis Co., took Elbert Johnson to Grant hospital and the body of the father was taken to the Shaw Davis Co. morgue.

Elbert Johnson regained consciousness before reaching the hospital, but was in a dazed condition.

The deceased was a widower. He was twice married. His second wife, Mrs. J. L. McCafferty, died several years ago and she was a stepsister of Judge I. N. Abernethy and C. F. Abernethy of this city.

He served several years as justice of the peace of Monroe township.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at one o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elta Hatfield, at Five Points. Interment was in Pleasant township cemetery near Mt. Sterling.

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE WREN MURDER

Governor Orders An Investigation of the Killing of Ray Wren.

Columbus, March 14.—(U. P.)—Governor Donahey has ordered a special grand jury investigation of the death of Ray Wren, alleged lunatic, slain by a sheriff's posse last week near Bellefontaine.

In a letter to Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, the governor declared the investigation should begin as soon as possible.

Donahey stepped into the case on receipt of petitions bearing the names of nearly 3,000 citizens of Logan county protesting the action of Sheriff Charles Wooley and eight deputies.

Wren was killed while he and his brother, Harry, were being arrested after barricading themselves in their farm home for three days, defying authorities to serve them with lunacy affidavits.

The posse, heavily armed, arrested them in a pasture at the rear of their home. At the time the brothers were not armed.

Citizens of Rushsylvania, near where the Wrens lived, were loud in their denunciation of the sheriff and circulated petitions demanding a grand jury probe and the sheriff's removal from office.

SUICIDES ON ON DAY SET FOR WEDDING

Samuel Tatman Took Poison and Died at Plain City Burial at Kinderhook.

Samuel Tatman aged 23 years died at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. John Tatman, in Plain City Saturday evening, following the taking of poison with suicidal intent.

Mystery surrounds the affair. He was to have been married to an estimable young woman on the day he took his own life and what led to the rash act is a mystery. He made no confidant of anyone and gave no reason for act.

He was born in this county at Kinderhook and was the son of Charles and Jennie Welsh Tatman. His mother following her husband's death married R. A. Throckmorton, of East Mound street.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday at Mt. Pleasant church at one o'clock. Interment in Springlawn cemetery at Williamsport.

Pomeroy, March 14—Shortly after his automobile had been fished out of the Ohio river, George Rogers drove it into a flivver crushing the radiator. The car slipped into the river when the brakes let go as it stood parked on the bank.

MONOTONOUS RESPECTABLE ENVIRONMENT

Five books have come from the humorous and fertile imagination of Strickland Gillilan, who is to appear on the 17th of March entertainment and lecture series, at the high school auditorium. The most recent offering along this line is "Laugh it Off." Other volumes are "Including Finnigan," "Sunshine and Awkwardness," "A Sample Case of Humor" and "Including You and Me."

Having devoted many years to newspaper work, Gillilan is thoroly at home in that profession and the press everywhere has been wonderfully kind to him. It is a matter of common knowledge that his success as writer and speaker has been unmarred by either dissipation or unreliability. "Many better men have gone wrong for a while," says Gillilan, "but my environment fortunately was more favorable to monotonous respectable."

Brown, Gray, Blue, Colors for Shoes
Hand-Painted Satin Also Featured at Openings in Paris.

Millady's footgear shown at the Paris openings is plain in outline, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune. The extreme cutaway décolletage of last year is no longer smart—the cut of the spring and summer slippers will be eminently conservative, though with no sacrifice of trim daintiness.
The burden of distinction and chic rests largely with the colors and the supplementary details, and the bolsters of Paris have contributed many interesting divertissements along these lines. Brown, gray and blue are the leading basic colors, and the greatest of these is brown. Golden brown, oak and putty are the principal tints of the brown range, while navy blue and light gray are preeminent among the other colors. In the case of the latter two, red kid is considered modish as a trimming—a typical model is in light gray kid, cut along simple court lines and has a little red strap and narrow ringlets of red kid at the sides. Red, however, and all the other bright and garish hues are distinctly demode except when used as trimmings. Black maintains its place in the mode and is considered quite as smart as it was last season.
Dual color combinations are en vogue, but the two shades must belong to the same range. A characteristic Riviera model appears in two shades of brown, the lighter hue being employed for the body of the shoe, while the darker shade appears on the trim and the single strap, the latter being attached to the upper corners and serving in place of buckles.
A recent innovation along the Rue St. Honore was the introduction of spring shoes in which the two sides of the vamp are in no way similar. One model of this type has a cut-out on one side and a strap on the other. Another, of putty-colored crocodile, has a section of royal blue kid attached to the right side and tapers off on the left side to a narrow strap which buttons onto the quarter. Thus, there appears a marked cut-out on the left side and none at all on the right.
Among the other novelties of the season are hand-painted satin shoes, inaugurated in London by the Duchess of York, and the employment of pyrogravure ornamentation in conjunction with kid leathers. Everywhere the tendency is to set off the plain outline and varied but subdued colors of the new French shoes with trim details which are always ingenious and often bizarre.

Ostrich Feathers Used in Winsome Trimming

Ostrich feathers in the present style are wholly unlike anything that ever adorned the stately bird. Only trifling bits are used in the novelty ornaments seen on some of the hats; almost never a handsome full plume. But the "made" ostrich, the willow, the modern achievement of handcraft, is the craze of the hour, and new ideas in its form, colors and uses appear almost daily.

The cleverest and showiest of the ostrich trimmings are done in two colors, giving opportunity for the greatest number of delightful and artistic combinations. The vogue of the rainbow color scheme in many things, in dress crepes and chiffons, tulle, nets, in scarfs and ribbons, has caught up feathers into the kaleidoscope and the most fairylike effects are being brought

And It Was Rubinstein!
Hearty T. Finck in his book entitled "Musical Laughs" speaks of a lady living in a German hotel, who was greatly annoyed by persistent practicing in a room adjoining hers. The maid who delivered the note came back with another containing the following: "Very sorry to have annoyed you. Your request is granted."

Wives of the Past
Wives are not worse off today than they were 2,000 years ago. Two thousand years ago Rome led civilization, and in the words of Lecky, the scientist and historian, "The Roman family was constituted on the principle of the absolute authority of its head, who had a power of life and death over both his wife and his children, and who could repudiate the former at will." So the modern wife has something to be thankful for!

Habit
It does not do to become abstracted in the school room. The teacher in a high school class was an ardent billiard player in off hours. One day he said: "Now, we start with this formula." He took up the pointer and advanced to the blackboard, only to be interrupted by a shout of laughter from the class. In his absence of mind he had first chalked the end of the stick, just as if it had been a billiard cue.

She Could Always Trust Her Husband

By MYRA CURTIS LANE
(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

NETTIE was packing the few things she was going to need in her suitcase. Once she and Cal were in Texas he would buy her a new outfit. He had promised to give her everything she wanted. And he could easily get a position there.

In a day and a night they would have left Turnpike forever. How drab the little town was, where Nettie had lived all her life! How she looked forward to the new life with Cal!

It had been love at first sight between them. For a long time they had both resisted, but love had got them in the tolls. And why shouldn't they be happy? Cal's wife, Mary, was a shrew and a scold, forever bustling about her house, eternally cleaning, never giving any real thought to Cal's comfort.

So Cal and she were going away together. Mary had brought it all upon herself. Seven years Cal and Mary had been together. And there was no child—if there had been, that would have made a difference. As things were, it wasn't as if she and Cal were really doing Mary a wrong. Probably she would be glad to get her divorce.

Then Cal and she could get married in Texas and spend life gloriously together.

Only, beneath her shrewishness Mary was curiously simple-minded. And Nettie and Mary had always been friends in a way. That was what jarred on Nettie and made her feel guilty of treachery. It wasn't a nice thing to have to do.

But then life was full of just such situations. One had to meet them as best one could. Her happiness and Cal's couldn't be sacrificed because of Mary's feelings. It wasn't as if she would care.

Nettie went on mechanically putting her things together. She was nearly through when there came a ring at the bell. She went downstairs annoyed. It was no time to see visitors.

Mary was at the door! "Oh, come in, dear," said Nettie, forcing a smile to her lips.

Mary came in. It was strange, sitting opposite Mary in the parlor, as they had so often sat; looking at her and thinking of the deadly blow she meant to deal her.

"I just ran over, dear," said Mary. "I was feeling kind of lonesome. Cal's away at the office so much in the evenings now, you know."

Nettie nodded. Many of those evenings they two had spent in that very room, telling each other of their love.

"You know, Nettie," said Mary, "of course Cal and I have rubbed along together in a sort of way. But somehow I've never really felt that I owned him. Nettie, I wish we wives knew the recipe for keeping a man's love."

Nettie forced herself to smile again. "That's an old wish," she said.

"I suppose so," said Mary wistfully. "But at any rate, even if Cal doesn't love me much, we've got along together, and I can always trust Cal. I'm never afraid of his running after other women."

"That's comforting," said Nettie.

"And then—Oh, my dear, I wanted you to be the first to know my secret. You know we've been married so many years, but at last—" She whispered it in Nettie's ear.

And Nettie, listening, felt her heart turning to stone.

"We've both of us always wanted a child so much, and now at last—why, it seems too good to be true," said Mary. "And it will make us both so happy. It will bind us together."

"Yes," said Nettie mechanically. "Well, I wanted you to be the first to know," said Mary, rising. "Good-by, dear." She kissed her fondly.

Nettie watched her from the front door until she was lost to view in the darkness. Did Mary guess, she wondered? But that she would never know. Those are the little things that women cannot divine about each other.

Suddenly she ran upstairs. With a sob she began tumbling the things out of the suitcase. She wouldn't need them now.

Insulin's Effect

A sidelight on the well-known effect of cold in slowing up the life processes of frogs has been shown by the effect of insulin, the extract of parts of the animal pancreas now used extensively in the treatment of diabetes. Too much insulin administered to warm-blooded animals causes fatal convulsions. The same thing happens to frogs when an overdose is given, with the exception that, irrespective of the amount administered, the time required for the fatal symptoms to appear depends on how warm the frog is. While an overdose caused the appearance of symptoms in a few hours in the case of frogs kept at a temperature of about 85 degrees, the same or larger dose required five or six days to take effect if the animals were kept in an ice box.

Glizzard stones from dinosaurs have been found by a scientist connected with the United States geological survey. They are of quartz and agate, varying from less than an inch to more than three inches in diameter. They are entirely foreign to the geological formation in which they are found in the oil-sands of Wyoming. They were found among dinosaur skeletons.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Human Ashes Weigh Little

Cremation is rapidly becoming a burial custom with many families who, a decade ago, were prejudiced against it. In the larger cities this is especially true. The ashes of a human body weigh about two pounds and a container equal in size to a two-quart measure is usually necessary to preserve the remains.

PROFITABLE FOR FARMER

Can Handle One Hundred Acres of Crop Land per Year.

Ohio farmers bought 40 per cent more machinery last year than in the years previous, according to an analysis of farm records made by rural economics specialists at the Ohio State university.

Using the records of 60 representative Ohio farms, some of them possibly above the average, the economists find that these farmers each bought an average of $230 worth of new machinery in 1924, as compared with $160 worth in 1922 and 1923.

"Increased farm prosperity has been reflected in a greater buying power for the farmer," Dr. J. L. Falconer, head of the rural economics department at the university, points out. "This increased purchasing power, however, was more noticeable in the western half of the state than in the dairy counties of the northeast.

"On the same farms," the economist continues, "21 percent had trucks in 1920 and 40 percent had them on January 1, 1925; while with tractors, it was 20 and 45 percent respectively.

"These farms were probably a little above the average of the state in size, but on the whole they are quite typical of representative Ohio farms and indicate the rapidity with which Ohio farms are becoming more thoroughly equipped with mechanical power, which in turn enables the expansion of agricultural production even with fewer people living and working on farms.

"It is now no uncommon thing to find farmers in Ohio who are handling 100 acres of crop land per man with the usual accompaniment of livestock. This can only be done by the judicious use of machinery.

"Father Violet"

The nickname "Father Violet" was bestowed upon Napoleon Bonaparte during his exile in Elba in 1814-15. It was mysteriously whispered throughout France at that time that a certain Corporal, or Father Violet would return in the spring with the violets, and that flower became in consequence the badge of his adherents and was publicly worn by them. It is still the symbol of the French imperialists.

BABY CHICKS EXHIBIT ON STATE TOUR

A poultry clinic and a baby chick exhibit will tour western Ohio over the lines of the Erie railroad from March 23 to 31. Agricultural agents of the railroad and specialists from the Ohio State university will accompany the train.

The clinic, free to all farmers who care to bring in diseased birds for diagnosis, will be in charge of Dr. Leonard W. Goss of the College of Veterinary Medicine at Ohio State. The baby chick exhibit provided by the poultry department at the university, will show by illustration what it is that makes for success in rearing chicks to maturity.

Motion pictures and brief talks are on the program for each stop. One car on the train will be fitted up for this, and another will be given to the clinic and the exhibits.

This poultry special, the agricultural agents of the railroad announce, will make 19 stops of two or three hours each at stations in these seven counties and in this order: Van Wert, Allen, Hardin, Marion, Union, Champaign, Montgomery and Greene.

BASKETBALL
DELAWARE

Jackson Won From Sedalia, Williamsport Lost to Martel.

Pickaway county was represented in the state central basketball tournament at Delaware March 13, by Jackson and Williamsport, the participating teams of the county finals held in Circleville March 7.

The contestants of this class "B" tournament held at Ohio Wesleyan included 22 teams of central Ohio all of which played in the final games of the respective county tournaments.

Williamsport played Martel, a team of hardly mediocre caliber Friday morning. Smith of Williamsport seemed to be the only player who was oriented but discovered that a "dribbling" game would not cause much advancement in a state tournament against a fresh team even of only average ability and the resulting score was 12 to 13 in favor of Martel.

The Jackson team made a most creditable showing in the tournament being eliminated in the third round and after 16 of the 22 contesting teams had been defeated.

Jackson's game with Sedalia Friday afternoon was a most spirited contest, Jackson being superior to their opponents in floor work. The score was tied with one minute to play. E. List then made a free throw and Rhoades took advantage of the remaining 30 seconds by making a field goal, making the score 15 to 12 in favor of Jackson.

In the evening Jackson encountered the fast aggregation from Mt. Gilead who opposed Bellepoint in the final game of the tournament. The Jackson-Mt. Gilead game was most interesting. Cercea, Mt. Gilead's center was the outstanding player. Rhoades was unable to secure his usual quota of baskets due in part to an injury of his right hand received in the Sedalia game and the contest ended 23 to 13 in Mt. Gilead's favor.

Denies Wife's Suit to Be

White Plains, N. Y.—One of the most unusual actions ever brought in the Supreme court in connection with the Enoch Arden law was revealed in a decision handed down by Justice Young at White Plains, in which he denied the application of Mrs. Virginia Griffin to set aside an Enoch Arden decree of dissolution of her marriage which Edward A. Griffin had obtained against her upon the ground she was dead.

When Griffin sought the decree on June 4, 1924, he stated that he had not seen his wife in ten years and he believed her dead. On September 5 Justice Young dissolved the marriage.

On November 14, 1924, Virginia appeared and instituted proceedings to set aside the order declaring her dead. This the court refused to do.

AMUSEMENTS

The "Old West" has come back once again in the far north country where Zane Grey wrote the novel, "The Border Legion," cowboys in picturesque garb ride thru the great stretches where wire fences have not come.

Once again the tinkle of spurs and the creak of saddle leather break the lazy hush of midday.

Once again, in a cloud of dust that darkens the sun, great herds of cattle move thru the sagebrush wilderness with the steady rumble of a thousand hoofs.

Once again the rolling hills hear the shrill "coo-ee" of the cowboys, riding herd with one knee thrown nonchalantly over the saddle horn.

The old west was reborn for Paramount's picturization of "The Border Legion," in locations personally selected by Zane Grey. Far in the north country, a selected cast of Paramount players headed by Antonio Moreno, Helen Chadwick, Charles Ogle, Rock Cuffe Fellows and Gibson Gowland, brought to life the characters that lived long ago.

Approximately 100 minor players chiefly cowboys, take part in the spectacular production, directed by William Howard.

"The Border Legion," which opens at the Met theater on Monday was filmed true to life.

The story, adapted to the screen by George Hull, has to do with the activities of a band of ruthless outlaws who preyed upon settlers and gold towns in the early days of Idaho.

A replica of one of the great cattle drives of the early days is a striking sight.

Here is, perhaps, one of the greatest of all Zane Grey tales, produced as is fitting such a story, with a cast that approaches perfection. Moreno and Miss Chadwick have featured roles, and others, besides those already mentioned, include Charles Ogle, James Corey, Edward Gribbon and Luke Cosgrave.

Courageous

The common house fly has what might be called "nerve." It isn't afraid of anything. It walks over your nose, flies away when your big hand comes that way, and then returns to your nose as if nothing had happened. The house fly is said to fear nothing except tobacco smoke.

Bananas at Their Best

The banana reaches its highest perfection in food value and flavor when harvested green and allowed to ripen after being severed from the plant. When consumed locally in the tropics it is cut green, for if allowed to ripen on the plant it loses its delicious flavor and becomes insipid.

Ugly Looking Towns Try Beauty Methods

Washington.—Beauty is overtaking the drab American village, according to observations of the Department of Agriculture in a current study of village planning and its benefits.

Although nearly 20,000,000 persons live in American villages and a farming population of 30,000,000 largely depends upon them for business, educational and social purposes, the department found they are "usually unattractive and often very ugly," suffering by comparison in this respect with those of other countries. The start that is being made toward improvement and beautification has proved in every case, it was said, a material asset as well as an esthetic one.

Pointing out that, "as the farmer's chief point of contact with outside interests, the village can make a big contribution to the happiness of farm life," the department asserted that an attractive village with good streets and convenient approaches and recreation spots was "an important influence in stabilizing farm life and counteracting the attractions of the cities for the young people of the farm."

The Thousand Islands

This is the name given to a collection of small islands in the expansion of the St. Lawrence river from the eastern end of Lake Ontario for about forty miles. They are located partly in New York state and partly in Canada. It is estimated that there are from 1,500 to 1,800 islands in the group. Handsome summer residences have been erected on many of the islands.—Kansas City Star.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Ormand C. Ward, a former foreman of the Union-Herald, but now a compositor on the Beacon-Journal, of Akron, and a son of Mrs. F. M. Ward of East Mill street, this city and Miss Louise Hardesty were married Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the Evangelical parsonage, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Tovey. The bride is a daughter of Louis Hardesty of Wayne township. Mr. and Mrs. Ward left Sunday for Akron where they will reside.

The annual reception of the Ohio Girls' club for their sponsor, Mrs. Frank B. Willis, the other evening, proved to be quite an event. It took place at the home of Miss Minnie May Hardy and Miss Edith Sherborne, members of the club. The girls presented their sponsor a beautiful bouquet of roses. In the receiving line with Mrs. Willis were Mrs. Fess, wife of Senator Fess, and Miss Arista Huber, acting president of the club. Several splendid vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Wayne B. Wheeler, with Mrs. F. D. Enfield at the piano as her accompanist. Mrs. Fess gave a very interesting description of her flower garden at Yellow Springs, Ohio with pictures which enabled the members to visualize its beauties. Senator Willis praised the club for the good work it has been doing along social and altruistic lines. Several guests were present from out of the city, including Mrs. Lillian Cole Bethel member of the League of American Pen Women, and Mrs. Grace Young, both of Columbus; Mrs. L. L. Luginbuhl and Mrs. J. Borger, both of Lima Ohio. Refreshments were served. The decorations consisted of red carnations, roses and ferns.—Washington Correspondent Columbus Dispatch.

Erect Monument to Founder of Missions

San Fernando, Cal.—Another chapter of the story inscribed in the crumbling remains of a chain of 21 missions, the earliest of which were founded more than a century and a half ago in California, will be written soon with the unveiling at the San Fernando mission of a monument to Father Junipero Serra, Spanish missionary who established the edifice.

The statue, depicting the mission father leading a shy Indian boy into the realm of Christianity, is of bronze and is seven feet six inches in height. It is the work of Mrs. Sally James Farnham, New York sculptress.

The missions, erected a day's journey apart, extend from the Mission San Diego de Alcalá to one at Sonoma, north of San Francisco. Over the long highway connecting the missions, now known as El Camino Real (the royal highway) padres wound their way to teach the Indians.

San Fernando was one of the missions. It was christened by Father Junipero September 8, 1797. The San Diego mission, the first to be established, was founded July 18, 1769.

Tuesday night is dedicated to St. Patrick, the patron saint of the Green Little Isle and its natives and descendants. Every Woman

Love supplies a woman with qualities she hasn't had till she loved. Every woman, even the dearest, considers her husband sarcastically at moments. And the worst of it is that I'm sure every woman's got jolly good reason for doing so.—From "After the Verdict," by Robert Hichens.

It has been the custom from time immemorial to maintain watch on the night preceding any great event. References to this are found in the Gospel of Mark 14:37, Psalms 130:6. The watch night services for the new year were popularized by John Wesley, founder of the Methodist religion, and by the Moravians, with whom Wesley was at one time affiliated.

Live Stock Not Improving Fast

High Percentage of Low Grades Caused by Poor Breeding.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In spite of the numerous methods of stimulating the improvement of live stock and in spite of the increased profits which come from such improvement, says the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, the need for such improvement is still apparent on almost every hand. Go to any of the public stock yards, say the government observers, and you will find only a small percentage of the meat animals in the highest market grades. Only about 5 per cent of the cattle received at Chicago, the largest live stock market, grade as prime or choice. Sometimes insufficient feeding keeps down the grade, but the principal cause of the high percentage of low grades is poor breeding.

Dairying Hampered.

Similarly, the dairy industry is hampered by many inefficient cows. The average milk production of the dairy cows in this country is scarcely two-thirds that of the cows in some foreign countries, and less than one-third that of the well-bred and well-managed dairy herds here. Horses, mules, sheep, goats and poultry are equally in need of improvement.

Better Breeding Seen.

At the same time the Department of Agriculture calls attention to the possibilities for animal improvement, it does not overlook the fact that far-sighted and energetic stockmen and farmers have done much in the direction of better breeding and have developed thousands of herds and flocks to which the foregoing comments do not apply. Nevertheless, the average quality and productive power of American live stock are said to be much lower than need be in the light of what is now known of animal breeding, feeding and management.

Warning Issued AgainstQuack Poultry Remedies

Poultry men will do well to investigate certain remedies claimed to free the poultry flock of mites, lice and other vermin, according to a warning issued by H. C. Severin, state entomologist of the South Dakota State college.

Advertisements have appeared at various times claiming that these remedies, sold in tablet or liquid form, when placed in the drinking water, would rid the flock of both external and internal pests. These claims are ridiculous and unreasonable, according to Severin. He finds upon examination that the liquids consist of either lime-sulphur solution, which is the ordinary orchard spray, or is only a sheep dip. The tablets are composed largely of calcium sulphide with characteristics similar to lime-sulphur solution or else contain sulphur mixed with iron rust.

Poultry men have been paying as high as a dollar an ounce for this material when in reality it should cost less than two dollars per gallon. The claim is made that the fowl will get the remedy into their food tube by drinking the treated water. From there it is supposed to go into the blood system and then to the skin, where it destroys the mites. Such a claim is unreasonable and entirely unwarranted.

Acreage Grown to Corn in 1924 Shows Decrease

Eighty-four per cent of the acreage grown to corn in 1924 was used for grain, as compared with 86 per cent in 1923, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. The total area for all purposes was 105,012,000 acres of which 87,838,000 acres was used for grain. Another 6,000,000 acres were cut for silage, and 11,084,000 "hogged down" or used for forage.

Much of the 1924 corn going into silos was unfit for husking, as it was immature or frosted, the department says. Ordinarily much of the corn cut for silage could be utilized for grain, if desired. The immaturity of the crop also increased the quantity cut for forage.

Cheaper Grain Ration

The high price of corn has caused cattle feeders to look about for a cheaper grain ration. This situation demands a careful study of the feeding value of different feeds and combinations of feeds before investing. At prevailing prices of feeds, the cheapest and best grain ration that can be fed fattening cattle consists of a combination of corn, six parts, and cottonseed cake or meal, one part, these proportions by weight. There are many feeds now being offered that may cost less per ton, but they cost considerably more on the basis of actual feeding value.

Handling Gumbo Soil

The best plan of handling heavy gumbo soil which is well drained, is to seed it to alfalfa and leave it in a crop like alfalfa, which requires no cultivation, for as long periods as possible. Heaviness of the soil can also be improved by growing sweet clover and by adding manure or some other form of organic matter. The incorporation of organic matter is a much more practical method of improving it than the application of lime, says L. E. Call, head of the agronomy department, Kansas State Agricultural college.

"What is her home like?"

It's a question women ask of each other at the club, at the theater, at the luncheon.

"Oh, so---so," with the faintest shrug of the shoulders.

Or perhaps, "Why, nice enough,"---with just a little hesitation, "er---nothing unusual, though."

But, sometimes, the reply is:

"Simply beautiful. Not elaborate, but such good taste."

Clear Water, Fla., March 12.—Dick Cox, a youngster from the Portland Club of the Pacific Coast league, has almost cinched a regular job in right field for the Brooklyn Robins. He has been used in several games in place of the veteran Tommy Griffith and has done everything expected of him. "That fellow looks like a find. He's going to get every chance" Manager Robinson said.

Sarasota, Fla., March 12.—After winning two games from the champion Senators in Palm Beach the Giants were back at work in their training camp early today. "They're all looking fine and playing well but the pitchers have not advanced with the other players. There is plenty of time though," Hugh Jennings said.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12.—Babe Ruth with one of his fingers inside several yards of wrapping was back in his uniform today. "Got to keep this fat off" the Babe said. He worked out fielding bunts with his good hand and had the portly Steve O'Neil as his companion. "If I'm going to be busted I'd better get thin and go to work" Ruth said.

Orlando, Fla., March 12.—Bucky Harris led his world's champions into camp here for the third training camp game today with the Cincinnati Reds. The Giants won the second game 2 to 1, a twelve inning affair in which three rookie pitchers, McNamara, Brillhart and Kelly performed well for the Senators.

Orlando, Fla., March 12.—Poor base ball and much fun were on tap yesterday when the Red vets beat the colts, 12 to 8. The Reds get their first taste of the real stuff today when they tackle the Washington team, world's champions.

Augusta, Ga., March 12.—Bert Cole arrived in camp Wednesday and Heinie Banush signed up, making the Tiger squad intact. Cobb is well pleased with his secondary defense, having a capable sub right hand hitter for every position when the enemy uses left handers, he says.

Lakeland, Fla., March 12.—The Cleveland Indians meet Indianapolis tomorrow in their first practice game. Benny Karr, Atlanta rookie hurler whose early performance has pleased Manager Speaker, may get in the game. The vets Shute, Edwards, Leveen and Uhl probably will take turns in the box.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., March 12.—The Browns opened their spring exhibition games by musing up the Dodgers 7 to 3. The hold-out list of the St. Louis team still remains at 4 with Jacobson, McManus, Danforth and Dixon missing.

Stockton, Calif., March 12.—After two were gone in the ninth the Cards managed to sneak over a 5 to 4 victory on Sacramento. Both teams jumped to Sacramento for a game there today.

Shreveport, La., March 12.—Manager Eddie Collins of the White Sox is having a tough time deciding which hurlers he wants for his regular staff. Some of last year's regulars will be shipped to the minors he has indicated. McClellan, Butler and Davis are having hot competition for the shortstop berth.

A very handsome woman was "slum-ming" downtown one day, holding her skirts from the grime and dirt of the lower East side, when a little urchin came up in front of her, holding a large green, unripe apple. He had lost several front teeth and the process of getting the first bite into it proved too much for him. He looked the lady over carefully and then thrust the apple toward her and said: "Missus, would you please start this for me"—

CORN BORER MULTIPLIES SO RAPIDLY

Clean-up of the Cornstalks
Should Come Before
First of June.

If no one interferes, Ohio may have ten billion European corn borers in its corn fields by this time next year.

This is not a wild guess, but rather the careful estimate of entomologists who have been studying the corn pest since it flew across Lake Erie to Ohio in 1921. It comes from Dr. L. L.
Huber, assistant entomologist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, and in direct contact with corn borer investigations.

Because the corn borer, if unmolested, will increase so rapidly it is the more important that every farmer in counties where the borer has been found clean up all corn stalks before June 1. Dr. Huber points out and so keep the borer population below the point where commercial damage occurs.

Commercial damage is likely to occur, the entomologist explains, when the borer population reaches about five or more to the corn stalk. The clean-up should come before June 1, he says, because after that date the borer emerges from the stalks as a moth and travels as far as the winds will take it.

Right now Ohio has a corn borer population of about 170,000,000 the entomologist estimate, 120,000,000 of which is in the area infested in 1921.
These figures were obtained. Dr.
Huber explains, from the data on percent of stalks infested in certain northern Ohio corn fields, on borer population per stalk and from the data on the number of eggs deposited by the female moth.
